

Muckross Gardens

The Bourn Vincent family spent lots of money enhancing Muckross Gardens. They developed the Sunken Garden with its colourful flowerbeds and the Rockery with its fun maze of winding steps, pathways and alpine flowers. Across the lawn the Stream Garden winds its way to Muckross Lake. If you look carefully you may see some young trout darting about its gravel bed.

Help the young deer find his Mom, do the sums and colour the correct squares.

Did you know that Muckross became Ireland's very first National Park on 1 January 1933?

Let's Explore Muckross

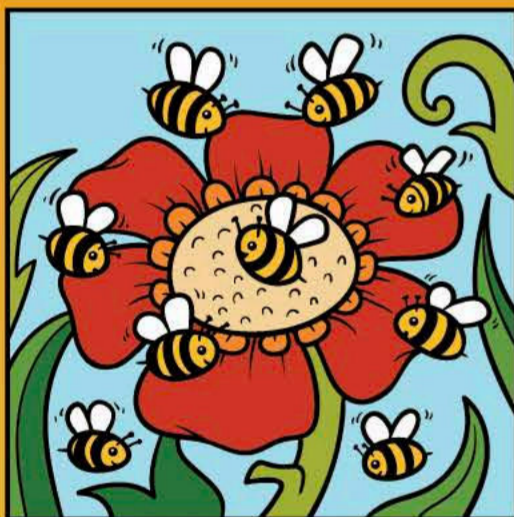

Help the Red Squirrel find her way home.

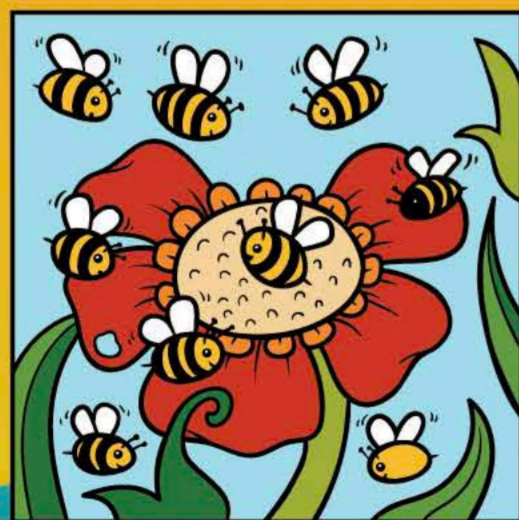

William Bowers Bourn, a wealthy American, bought Muckross as a wedding present for his daughter Maud. She married Arthur Rose Vincent from Co. Clare.

Maud and Arthur had two children, Rosie and Billy.

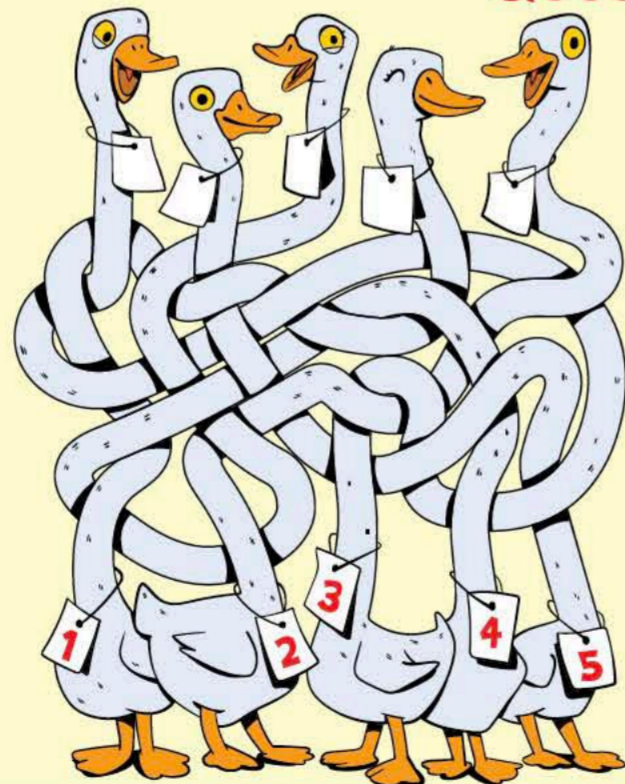

In 1932 the Bourn Vincent family gifted Muckross to the Irish people.
